

WILLIAMS WRITES OF MILITIA LIFE

DEMOCRAT-FORUM'S LINOTYPE MAN WITH MARYVILLE BAND.

TELLS OF TRIP AND FIRST DAY AT NEVADA

Oliver Boyard to Drive Away Blues Kept Bunch in Uproar of Laughter—How They Eat.

(By I. B. Williams, tubist with the Fourth Regiment Band.)

Camp Clark, Nevada, Mo., June 22.—The Fourth Regiment band is located in its quarters here and work of pitching the tents is practically finished. Most of the boys are writing to their mothers and sweethearts. Some are sleeping, for we had a hard trip last night.

We arrived at the camp entrance about 8 o'clock this morning and marched to our location, which is about one-half mile distant. We were delayed a trifle in getting our tents up, but while we were waiting for supplies our eating utensils were apportioned.

You folks really do not appreciate what luxuries you really enjoy back home. We have to be decidedly careful as to how we handle our plates and cups, etc., for they are made out of aluminum. In fact, said implements consist of one quart cup, knife, fork and spoon and plate in two sections, which fit together like a casserole dish.

It is about seven inches long by five inches wide, and oval in shape. A handle is attached so as to fold over and latch the rims holding the plates together. At mess time the boys line up and march by the cook's tent for their rations.

The band, Co. K, Weston, Co. D, Trenton, and the hospital corps made up the train which came in last night. The Tarkio Co. A has not arrived yet. Co. B, Fourth regiment, Caruthersville, arrived about 3:30.

First, Second and Third regiments are here. The rest of the Fourth is expected in most any time. Col. McNeely and his regimental staff is reported to be coming in tonight. Until he arrives we cannot tell what our fate will be.

Oliver Boyard was one humorous person today. He was anything but cheerful when we left Maryville. He says if he doesn't say or do something he believes he will go crazy.

I fear this will be somewhat disconnected but it is interesting and amusing to watch the boys of the other companies drill and the remarks of our boys as to what they will do to the greasers.

The biggest or more expressed regret of most of our boys is that they didn't get to see their mothers before they left Maryville. Sergeant Mitner had quite a time in getting the men to their coach in St. Joseph last night for many of them had friends and mothers and other relatives there to bid them farewell.

As we came down last night Co. K of Weston was attached to the rear of us and from their actions they had never been out in bunch before. I doubt if half of them slept and I know they kept the band and part of the field hospital corps awake most of the night.

I made the acquaintance of a F. T. Windsor of the field hospital corps, St. Joseph. He is a cousin of W. C. Pierce of Maryville. As we came into a station last night somewhere on the "My Patience" (society for Mo. Pacific) some one called out Sandwiches, Pies, etc.

Windsor asked if anyone wanted rolls. Chorus of voices: "Yes." "Well, roll over." He relieved many interrupted slumbers.

Well, mess call has sounded for 6. Tomorrow I will tell you something of the tents that are pitched.

To Denver for Summer.
Mrs. Ferdinand M. Townsend, her small son, Edward, Bohm, and his nurse will leave Sunday morning for Denver, Colo., where they will spend the rest of the summer with Mrs. Townsend's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bohm.

The town men are considered the best entrants from Conception and Nixon and Gillam will make any team in Maryville move rapidly to beat them. The match is the first inter-town contest this summer but may start further rivalry.

Choosing of Patriotic Program, Appropriate to Fourth Regiment's Leaving, Pleased Everyone.
An unusually large crowd heard and applauded the new Maryville band last night in the first weekly concert since the leader and thirty musicians were called to Mexico as a part of the Fourth Regiment band.

The program was specially pleasing from the fact that Director Lloyd Miles chose a patriotic program in commemoration of the fellow players who had just left to furnish music for the Fourth regiment, M. N. G.

LITTELL GOES TO NEVADA

STATE SENATORIAL CANDIDATE HEADS COMPANY A, M. N. G.

Tarkio Lawyer Will Be Unable to Make Campaign, But Stays in Race for Nomination.

W. R. Littell of Tarkio, candidate for the Democratic nomination for state senator of this district, has gone with his company, which is Company A of Tarkio, to Nevada, Mo. Mr. Littell is captain of the Tarkio company. Mr. Littell will remain in the race for this office and in a letter to The Democrat-Forum says:

"Since announcing my candidacy for senator on the Democratic ticket from this district, I have been called with the National Guard of this state in the country's service by President Wilson. I am rendering this service willingly, because it is the duty that every good citizen should be glad and willing to perform. I cannot say how long I will be away. I feel, however, that we will return to our home station before election, and certainly before the next legislature meets. I must trust my candidacy to my friends and the Democratic voters of the district and I pledge to them that if they nominate and elect me to this important position, that I shall be glad to render the same prompt service to their interests in the state that I am now rendering to our country."

Mrs. Wayner Graves and Mrs. Willis Frankum of Arkoe will have a basket dinner for their neighbors in the Yankum grove on July 4.

PERSHING'S OFFICIAL REPORT CONFIRMS EARLY REPORTS.

SECOND CONFLICT RUMOR

El Paso Hears That Reinforcements Were Attacked by Mexicans—No List of Dead Yet.

BULLETIN

Washington, June 23.—The war department made public the official report this afternoon from General Pershing which confirms the press dispatches that the Tenth cavalry in the battle of Carrizal were fired upon while coming forward under a flag of truce for a parley. No list of the casualties has been received.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

Columbus, June 23.—Dispatches from General Pershing's headquarters say that only seven of the United States troops who took part in the Carrizal fight have returned to camp thus far. They are unanimous in declaring that the Americans were victims of treachery. They were even engaged by householders. It is possible that other survivors are trying to fight their way back to headquarters.

Funston Convinced of Trick.

San Antonio, June 23.—General Funston is convinced that the battle of Carrizal was precipitated by Mexican treachery but will wait for the official reports from General Pershing before taking action.

In the meantime the war preparations are proceeding rapidly here.

May Have Fought Again.

El Paso, June 23.—Reports of a second battle between the Americans and Mexican troops near Carrizal were received here today. It lacked confirmation from any official source but the reports were credited in some quarters.

General Pershing is known to have sent two squadrons of cavalry to the relief of the negroes who were attacked Wednesday. It is considered probable that these reinforcements had already come in contact with Carranzistas.

ECHOES OF FUNERAL

their lead in Dogtown from 150 to 155—enough to set aside the good work of the other wards and give the saloons more than half a hundred votes to make its victory sure.

Having again matched their strength with the enemy, the good people of Maryville resigned themselves to four more years of whisky rule. And Dogtown settled back among its wrecked lives, its joyless homes, its unpaved streets, its unpainted hovels, its bottles, its brothels and its dogs—just Dogtown.

The Baptist church of Maryville chances to be in the old Fourth ward, and in 1913 Lewis M. Hale became its pastor. The house in which Mr. and Mrs. Hale set up housekeeping was in the Fourth ward. That his church came to be called the Dogtown church and he the "Dogtown preacher" made no difference to young Mr. Hale. This Missouri boy, having been assigned a charge in a wet town, and finding himself set down in its wettest quarter, went directly about his Master's work. And the work that was most manifestly in need of doing was to preach the gospel of Jesus Christ to the men who were in sorest need of it.

Preached a Personal Gospel.
He began to preach a personal, sympathetic, everyday gospel to the men in their homes, at their work, in his church. He was fearless, straightforward and practical. He took men warmly by the hand. He looked them squarely in the eye. He was quick to see the good that lay deep down in their souls; and he was ever ready to point out the way of reconciliation between the soul and its maker. The men of Dogtown, whatever else might be said of them, were practical, and they liked this young man, for he was square.

The fourth Sunday night that Lewis M. Hale preached in his Maryville pulpit there came forward, under deep conviction, a man named Abbott. Abbott was the "Dogtown policeman," commissioned by the city and paid by the saloons to keep order among their patrons at the bar. His had been no insignificant part in piling up the appalling majorities that Dogtown had given the saloons in former years. But on the last Sunday night in September, 1913, Officer Abbott was converted, and from that hour his allegiance was with the cause of righteousness.

Not only on his Sundays was the young preacher at work. He was a personal campaigner. He worked with men wherever and whenever he found them. He induced many a man to sign the pledge—not for the city or for the church, or even for the Lord, but for the worn-out wife and wistful children who so needed the earnings that were being spent for drink. He met these men with a man's directness, appealed to their manhood, and convinced them with a man's argument. He carried no cheesecloth banners embroidered with "Down With the Saloon." His banner was a personal "Up With the Man."

Bible Class Grew and Grew.
Hale worked earnestly away, preaching the gospel to every man within the possible limits of his influence, whether resident in the old Fourth or the Temperate Third; whether a "Downtown" or "one of our foremost citizens." They all looked alike to Hale. And the men's organized Bible class grew and grew. By the second winter they had outgrown their corner in the church. So every Sunday during the months of February, March and April they marched to the courthouse and met in the special courtroom for their class work, and at its close they would all march back to the church—sometimes 118 strong! A fully outfitted company of men enlisted and fighting on the Lord's side! And most of these men were residents of the Fourth ward. For three months they used their special quarters in the courthouse, paying for the heat and janitor service out of their own pockets. Meanwhile, with $250 from the same source, they were finishing a new classroom in the rear of the church—a splendid room, with seating capacity for more than a hundred men. And in this room, equipped with their own contributions and set apart expressly for their use, these men have regularly met since May 1, 1915.

With the aid of the present moderator of the Northwest Missouri Baptist association, the writer went over the church books the other day just to see what possible effect the work of this Bible class may have had on the recent local option election in Maryville. We found that 113 men—qualified electors—had been converted and joined the church from the old Fourth ward alone since September 1, 1913!

And what effect might this have had at the election? The bare figures do not begin to tell the story. The entire membership of the men's organized Bible class became a working unit in the pre-election campaign. Two nights before the final day the class gave voters' banquet at the church, and to this came more than 300 men.

Faced Enemy for Last Time.
So on the morning of February 3, 1916, Maryville faced her enemy for the last time. And this time it was not necessary to carry the election "in spite of Dogtown"; for Dogtown was leading the fight for civic righteousness! One hundred men of the old Fourth ward, with Lewis M. Hale among them, were at the polling places working for dry votes from earliest morning till the last vote was in. And when the votes were counted the old Fourth ward—Dogtown—was next to the head of the dry column, just nine votes below the temperate Third, and away ahead of the First and the Second wards. The First went dry by 137, the Second by 156, the Third by 209, and the Fourth by 206. The drys had it that day in Maryville by a majority of 702!

And that is not all. Two weeks later they buried the name that the old Fourth ward had borne since the time "to which the memory of man runneth not to the contrary." They buried the name "Dogtown," and Lewis M. Hale preached the funeral sermon before the largest audience ever assembled in the Maryville Baptist church.

FRECKLES

Don't Hide Them With a Veil; Remove Them With the Othine Prescription.

This prescription for the removal of freckles was written by a prominent physician and is usually so successful in removing freckles and giving a clear, beautiful complexion that it is sold by any druggist under guarantee to refund the money if it fails.

Don't hide your freckles under a veil; get an ounce of othine and remove them. Even the first few applications should show a wonderful improvement, some of the lighter freckles vanishing entirely.

Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength othine; it is this that is sold on the money-back guarantee.

BURGLARS FOX TROT AND LUNCH BEFORE LOOTING

Neighbors in the Apartment House Thought Owners Were Having a Party.

Minneapolis.—Daylight burglars made merry in the home of Mrs. C. Aubrey, on the second floor of 1105 East Lake street, on their recent visit.

They played records on the phonograph. Two of the numbers were dance selections, and the visitors danced. They even moved heavy furniture around to make room for the fox trotting.

Then they served lunch, cleaning up most of the provisions in the larder.

The music, the dancing, the moving of furniture and the rattle of plates and silver were heard all through the apartment building. Their boldness apparently saved the burglars from detection, for the neighbors thought members of the Aubrey family were home and were having a party and gave the matter no further attention until Mrs. Aubrey returned at 6 p. m. and found her flat ransacked.

Two gold watches, $4 in change and some clothing were part of the loot taken.

On the first floor of the building were Mrs. Mary Gilbert and her daughter Louise. Mrs. Gilbert is partially deaf, but even she heard the noise made by the robbers.

165 FOOT FLAGPOLE CARRIED FROM COAST

Makes Trip on Four Large Flat Cars, and Freight Alone Is $1,550.

New York.—A 165 foot flagpole for Joseph T. Lilly's estate at Northport, N. Y., arrived at Hoboken. It came from near Tacoma, Wash., on four large flat cars. The freight charge was $1,550.

The pole, which is twenty-eight inches through at the base, is from an Oregon fir tree which stood 300 feet high. The wood is beautifully grained. On one side there is not a single knot. It will be set in a concrete base fifteen feet underground and will be surmounted by a weather vane thirty feet across. The flag will be 30 by 50 feet.

It will be the tallest flagpole along the Atlantic coast. Mr. Lilly's estate is 200 feet above sea level, and the flag will be visible for most of the length of Long Island.

PIPE 140 YEARS OLD.

Hand Carved, With "Yorktown, '76," Engraved on Bowl—Found in 1862. Boise, Ida.—Isiah Axe of this place is the owner of a relic of unusual interest.

It is a laurel wood pipe that Mr. Axe, then a Union soldier serving in an Indiana regiment, picked up on the battlefield at Culpeper in 1862. It is hand carved, with a silver mounting. Around the upper edge of the bowl is engraved "Yorktown, '76." Below is the American eagle, with the banner on its breast, and under the curve of the pipe a skull and crossbones.

Mr. Axe has had engraved "1862" in the banner to denote the year he found it. If the pipe was carved as denoted by the original inscription it is 140 years old.

TWO MICE CAUSE PANIC.

Women in Car Become Confused, and Many Are Injured.

Portland, Ore.—Forty high school girls, stenographers and other women on their way to Portland were thrown into a panic when two mice invaded a Sellwood street car.

In the confusion two girls fainted, several tried to leap from the car, and a number sustained bruises and bad scratches. After five minutes of feminine screaming, mostly from safe places on the tops of seats, two men caught the mice and the car moved on.

The mice were discovered on the floor of the car by a schoolgirl, who screamed and led the general scramble for places on top of the seats, thus starting the panic.

JUST STEALS A BATH.

Then He Changes Clothing, Takes a Meal and Departs.

St. Louis.—"The loot consisted of a bath, a meal and an outfit of clothing," according to the report made to the police by Lee Henderson, sexton of Grace church.

Henderson lives in the basement of the church. He complained that during his absence a thief stole into his apartment and took a bath—took it bodily—an outfit of clothing, comprising everything that a man wears, and departed after cooking a meal in Henderson's kitchen.

REPLY AFTER THREE YEARS.

High School Boy Tossed Ketchup Bottle Containing Note into River.

Winona, Minn.—Three years ago William Wilkins of Winona, a high school boy, tossed a ketchup bottle containing a note into the river while camping at West Newton, north of here. The note read:

This was tossed overboard in the hope that the finder might correspond.

Wilkins has just received a reply. It was signed by Marguerite De Brazier of West La Crosse, Wis., thirty miles away.

ALL SHOULD WED.

Helen Keller Breaks Rule and Discusses Love and Matrimony.

LEAVE WOMEN IN CONTROL.

Says Husband Could Propose All Vital Measures and Wife Dispose of Them—Woman Must Be Economically Free Before Matrimony Reaches Ideal State, She Thinks.

Chicago.—While in this city recently Miss Helen Keller was interviewed on a theme which she usually avoids—and that is love. In spite of her human handicaps, which she has almost overcome, she has some unique opinions on this absorbing topic.

The sightless and dumb prodigy pounded them out on her fingers and the face of her teacher, Mrs. J. A. Macy, who has been with her for twenty-nine years.

An eager face, lips that are ready to laugh and a flashing, alert mind helped along the interpretation of her love sentiments.

"I am not telling my love affairs," she spelled into the palm of her teacher.

HELEN KELLER.

er's hand. "They are not for publication," although she admitted many proposals as a "start"—and possibly one heart affair.

The master of the house in ideal conditions such as are sensed by Miss Keller in a new day is not of the common species. He will be a master man, willing to permit his wife to be the disposer of the household supplies and the real "boss."

"Every household should be ruled by a bicameral government—a congress and a senate—such as the United States gave the Porto Ricans," she said. "The woman should of course be the house of representatives of the family. In this government there will be no filibustering, I hope, nor lobbying."

"Thus the man would propose all vital measures, and the woman would dispose of them. She would control the disposal of supplies principally, as women did among some of the primitive tribes."

This ideal state of matrimony, however, Miss Keller does not expect until woman is economically free. So long as man is the "moneybags" this future marriage system will be missing.

A happy interest flashed in her sightless eyes when she was requested to describe her ideal man.

"Of course he will be handsome, for eugenic reasons," she said, with a smile. "He doesn't have to be rich. I am paying my own passage through the world and am proud of it."

"And the ideal man doesn't have to be possessed of a college education. He must be one who thinks straight. Many men have obtained an education by their own efforts—for example, Mark Twain, one of my ideal men. For he was broad humanly, tender, yet strong and full of humor."

"Do you admire Napoleon?" "No," she pounced on Mrs. Macy's palm, "nor Bismarck. True statesmen are dug from a vast patience."

"Every marriage should have love, and both man and woman should never lose sight of the happiness of their children. The state should pay for the upkeep of each child, for there is no greater service to the state than a woman's gift of a child—a greater service than the building of a warship. Besides, warships are no good without men. Woman furnishes the absolutely necessary supply—men. Her services are fundamental in wartime or out of war."

"All women should marry if they can get men to marry them." Her teacher laughed her out of her seriousness. "Yes, they should," she insisted. "It's essential for the race and evolution in the world."

One of the glories which Miss Keller delights in is the glory of her family. A great-great-grandfather of hers was one of the first colonial governors of Virginia—one of the Spotswoods, and this is a cherished name. She is a cousin of the southern hero, Robert E. Lee, and counts the Adamases and the Everetts on her ancestral tree.

Her mother, Mrs. Katharine Adams Keller, is with her, busily darning stockings and mending shirt waists. A sister, Mrs. Mildred Keller Tyson, lives in Montgomery, Ala., her native state, and a brother, Phillips Brooks Keller, is an engineer. Miss Keller was a student and admirer of Phillips Brooks when she was nine years old, and she insisted upon giving her brother that name, her mother said.

Marion Walton was the victim of a very unfortunate accident this morning which resulted in the loss of one eye. Mr. Walton, who is employed on the Burlington section force, was driving a small wedge into the handle of his pick when a glancing blow caused the sharp instrument to fly back, striking him on the ball of the eye and cutting it across the iris. Dr. C. G. Dean was called and dressed the injury, which was very painful. It is not known as yet whether or not the eyeball will have to be removed.—Burlington Junction Post.

COUPLE FROM ARCADIA TO LOUISIANA IN CANOE.

Historical Societies and Boating Clubs Interested in Cruise of Newspaper Worker.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

Greenville, Miss., June 23.—Following the flow of the river that carried the Arcadians to their place of refuge in Louisiana 300 years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Lloyd of Maryville, New York, making the trip in a light, open canoe, have reached here and after a rest of a few days will continue on their voyage, which will not end until the mouth of the Mississippi has been reached.

Mr. Lloyd is a newspaper writer and last November he and his wife left the upper reaches of the Ohio river for the lower Mississippi. Upon their arrival at New Orleans, they will be met on the shore of the river by a committee of the Louisiana Historical society and representatives of the Southern Yacht Club.

The trip of the intrepid canoeists commemorates the French discovery of Louisiana three hundred years ago and its proclamation as French territory.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd have made the trip in easy stages. The roughest part of the voyage was last winter on the Ohio river. At times the temperature was below freezing. Ice formed on the sides of the canoe and the paddles. Mrs. Lloyd is an expert with the paddle and once saved the canoe from being capsized in the ice of the Ohio river.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd have a complete camping outfit, which is stored in the canoe by day and put into use at night. They have spent few nights under roof since starting on their adventure.

Their little canoe is eighteen feet long. It has already covered 4,000 miles.

Harry Clyborne and his son William of Kansas City will arrive in Maryville tonight to be the guests of Mr. Clyborne's aunt, Mrs. D. R. Eversole.

FOR COUNTRY CLUBS.

With garden parties and outdoor functions crowding the days this elegant frock makes its own appeal. Cheruit designed it and has used rich cream lace veiled with black tulle and under all a petticoat of bisque taffeta. ELMO MUST VOTE AGAIN

ERROR IN THE SCHOOL ADDITION BONDS CAUSES TROUBLE.

Bankers Refuse to Carry Out Bid Although Foundation Work Is Finished.

The Elmo school board has ordered a special election to be held on Saturday, July 8 for the purpose of voting on a proposition to issue the bonds of the district in the sum of $3500 for the purpose of building an addition to the present school building there.

The Elmo Register says: This proposition was voted on at the annual election held the first Tuesday in April, and it carried by a good majority, and the contract was let for the building. The bonds were sold but when the papers were made out it was found that there were some slight technical defects in them, and the bond company refused to carry out the terms of their bid.

Attorneys advised another election. The contractor is at work on the building, and the foundation has been laid, much material is on the ground, and the brick work begun, so it will be necessary to put the proposition through as fast as they can.

Members of Siren lodge U. D. will attend in a body church services at the A. M. E. church Sunday. Dr. M. O. Ricketts will preach.

FINGER PRINTS TAKEN FOR PLAYING BALL

Magistrate Fines Three Youths, Then Orders Procedure Usual With Criminals.

New York.—For having played baseball in a street in violation of an ordinance three boys were arrested recently and fined $3 apiece in the Washington heights court. Then their finger prints were taken, as if the boys were criminals.

Relatives of the prisoners did not complain of their punishment, but were indignant over the finger printing.

The boys are Walter Sharpe, seventeen, of 523 West One Hundred and Fifty-first street; John Mehtens, sixteen, of 1887 Amsterdam avenue, and Ulrich Hofel, eighteen, of 560 West One Hundred and Sixty-first street. They were arrested in One Hundred and Fifty-first street, near Amsterdam avenue.

In court the three pleaded guilty, whereupon Magistrate Charles E. Simms ordered that their finger prints be taken and that the records be examined to see if any of them had been arrested before. He was told all had excellent reputations. Then they paid their fines and departed.

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION SIDELIGHTS

One of the most interesting features of the recent Democratic convention at St. Louis is the fact that it took lovely woman to force the only roll call demanded on the national platform, as well as to inspire the only real excitement that marked the convention.

"Votes for Women" was the issue that stirred up things. The Mexican plank, nailed in at the last minute by the platform builders, did not create a ripple. "Americanism" and "preparedness" received polite ovations, but it remained for the woman suffrage plank to start a real fracas.

Headed by Gov. Ferguson of Texas, the anti suffragers endeavored to wrench the suffrage plank from the platform. But President Wilson's feelings on the subject, as presented to the convention by Senator Walsh of Montana, were not to be ignored. And so, after a three-hour battle in which the term "political expediency" was used with telling effect, the anti suffragers were routed by a vote of 888 1/2 to 181 1/2.

The vote, however, does not tell the real story of the battle, which was one of the most vigorous and picturesque ever staged at a national Democratic convention. Fifteen women delegates fought from the floor on the side of the pro-suffragists, while hundreds of their sisters waved yellow pennants and cheered them on from the balconies. A thunderstorm that almost drowned out the voices of the delegates as they answered the roll call brought both the suffrage battle and the convention to a most melodramatic finish.

THE SUFFRAGE PLANK.

"I recommend the extension of franchise to the women of the country by the states upon the same terms as to men."

It was the above little plank that inspired Gov. Ferguson of Texas to mount the platform in the Coliseum and read a minority report withholding the party support from the ladies who want the vote. That the Democratic party should scorn the political exigencies of the situation and defy the 12 western states in which women vote was the burden of his argument. Sharing the same opinion with him were C. L. Bartlett of Georgia, Stephen B. Fleming of Indiana and "Jim" Nugent of New Jersey, the old-time enemy of President Wilson. This trio signed the minority report with the Texas.

Lined up against Gov. Ferguson, who acted as spokesman for the minority, were Senator Stone of Missouri, Senator Pittman of Nevada and Senator Walsh of Montana.

Senator Walsh did not mince matters in his argument for the adoption of the suffrage plank. He stated plainly the adoption of the plank was necessary as a matter of political expediency, adding that the present political situation in this country was a condition and not a theory.

"The states in which women vote control 91 votes in the electoral college," he said, adding significantly, "every political party has declared for woman suffrage in some way or other. It becomes a simple question whether you will incur the enmity of these women."

"Now, my friends," he continued, "as late as 1907 there were but two states west of the Missouri river that returned Democratic senators and now we have 15 of them. The question is, are you ready to surrender the 15 votes you have in the United States senate and turn them over to your political enemies?"

In conclusion, Senator Walsh said that he revealed no secret when he said President Wilson knew all about the suffrage plank.

"The president believes it vital to his success that it stay in the platform," he said. "I ask you in all the fervor of my soul, who is there wiser or more patriotic than he?"

Following Senator Walsh's speech, Gov. Ferguson was allowed five minutes for rebuttal. The vote was then taken and his minority report voted down, after which the original suffrage plank, as approved by the resolutions committee was unanimously adopted.

The Women Delegates.

The presence of the 15 women delegates at the Democratic convention not only added color to the affair, but changed the views of a number of the men delegates on the subject of political activity for women. For the women delegates were a fine, wholesome-looking lot and they fought just as enthusiastically for the best interests of the party as the men.

Three of them, Miss Mary E. Foy of California, Mrs. T. S. Talliferro of Wyoming, and Mrs. W. A. Harris of Kansas, spoke before the resolutions committee in favor of the suffrage plank which the National American Woman Suffrage Association presented to the convention.

One of the other delegates, Mrs. Teresa E. Graham, of Idaho, was nominated by the National Democratic committee to be one of the committee that will notify Vice-President Marshall of his nomination.

Beef Roll

A New Way of Using Left Overs By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine.

Every housewife finds the disposition of left overs a most perplexing problem. K C Beef Roll will go a long way toward helping you out when the family gets tired of hash and stews. You really ought to try it for supper tonight or tomorrow night at the latest.

Beef Roll, K C Style

Three cups flour; 1 teaspoonful salt; 3 level teaspoonsful K C Baking Powder; 1/2 cup shortening for the dough; 1 cup each, chopped cold beef and ham; 1 teaspoonful mixed mustard; 2 beaten eggs; grating of onion; 1/4 teaspoonful each, salt and pepper; milk or water.

Make a biscuit dough of the flour, salt, K C baking powder, shortening and milk, and roll into a sheet half an inch thick, having the ends even. Mix the other ingredients by themselves, using liquid as needed to make a paste. Spread the paste over the dough and roll like a jelly roll. Bake in a buttered pan about forty minutes. Brush over the outside with a little beaten egg left for the purpose and return to the oven to brown. Serve hot with a rich brown sauce. Other meats, such as chicken or veal, alone, or in combination, may be used. The onion and mustard may be omitted.

Fine recipes—just think of it—by the famous cooking authority, Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, sent free upon receipt of the colored certificate packed in 25-cent cans of K C Baking Powder. Send for the handsome Cook's Book today to the Jacques Mfg. Co., Chicago.

Carl Wray Says Late Rains Were Needed and Explains.

It continues to rain. Last night about 1:30 o'clock a storm with considerable lightning again broke over the county. The rainfall was 1.32 inches. It cleared up before morning.

Henry Thompson, living between Hopkins and Clearmont, lost a cow valued at $100 which was struck by lightning. Some hay was caught down also, but no large damage is seen from this source. In fact, some see a blessing in disguise while others are grumbling.

For instance, this philosophy and scientific agriculture from Carl Wray of Guilford, who was in town yesterday and explained to us why the Tuesday rain was needed. Mr. Wray said that a hard crust had formed over the soil and late corn which had been planted was not able to break through. The rain loosened the soil.

Then Providence showed that it was working well by remaining cool for several days. Most people were complaining that warm weather was needed to make the corn grow but hot weather would have baked the soil again and formed another crust. The moisture was given time to get down into the subsoil before hot evaporating weather arrived.

The fact is the Guilford banker is one of those who believes in letting the Higher Power control the weather.

ELECTING A PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON.

George Washington Elected First President in 1789.

The first presidents were chosen by electors who were chosen by the legislatures of the various states.

The person having the majority of these electors was declared president. The person having the next greatest number was declared vice president.

The first election took place on Jan. 7, 1789, in the states that had ratified the constitution. The electors chose the president on Feb. 4, 1789. The vote, counted on April 6, 1789, was:

George Washington, 69; John Adams, 34; Samuel Huntington, 2; John Jay, 9; John Hancock, 4; R. H. Harrison, 6; George Clinton, 3; John Rutledge, 6; John Milton, 2; James Armstrong, 1; Edward Telfair, 1; Benjamin Lincoln, 1. Ten states voted, but there is no record of the popular vote.

In the election of 1792 Washington received 132 votes and Adams 77.

'DAMAGED GOODS' TODAY

FAMOUS FILM IS SHOWING AT EMPIRE THEATRE.

Press Comment Tells of Commendation for Social Vice Lesson by Women Spectators.

The feature film, "Damaged Goods," which will be shown at the Empire theatre tonight, has been well received at other places where it was shown. Good crowds attended here this afternoon.

The picture runs continuously all afternoon and evening, shows after supper beginning at 7:00, 8:30 and 10:00 o'clock p. m.

Following is a press comment in which women praised the celebrated drama:

"Eighty-three women attended the special showing of 'Damaged Goods' at 1 o'clock this afternoon at the Majestic Theatre, an attendance which even surprised the theatre managers, and the 3:00 and 4:30 o'clock shows were equally well attended.

"The great majority of the ladies were delighted with the splendid character and moral quality of the picture. They praised it highly for the actual, though horrible truths it pictured so openly, and yet so cleanly.

"One mother who brought four girls from the countryside declared that if she had sixteen more, she'd herd the whole crowd into the Majestic tonight, to get the remarkable lesson which 'Damaged Goods' teaches, and which she knows from experience is exceedingly difficult for parents to impart to children.

"Two or three other women, however, argued very indignantly that 'Damaged Goods' was not a proper subject to present to the public, but was all right for a medical association only."

TOWN AND FARM A TEAM

SOMETIMES CITY WANTS IT TO BE A TANDEM.

Make a Proposal and Ask Country Brethren to Co-operate Instead of Joint Planning.

The average farmer is ready to co-operate with his town brethren but he wants to co-operate in his own way and in something that he can clearly see is to his interest. A study of what has been termed co-operation as it has existed for many years between town and country people generally shows that the town has developed the plan and presented it to the farmer full formed. A better way to co-operate would be for the town and the country to get together. Let both indicate what they want in the way of co-operation; then together work out the problem—not in any patronizing way but in a substantial business-like manner as between partners with a common interest.

Full and free co-operation between town and country to the mutual benefit of both is not impossible but if it ever is accomplished it may have to be at the sacrifice of some of the artificial machinery which thrives in towns unnecessary to the economic scheme yet capable of gaining and keeping a foothold. The occasional "farmer's day" in the city is a very desirable thing, and these events should be encouraged. An occasional city men's day in the country might not be a bad innovation but the permanent solution of the problem of co-operation between town and country is not found in the occasional special event which brings the two groups of men together. Real co-operation must be continuous and must be of a kind which directly affects the farmer's prosperity and leaves more money in his pocket at the end of the year.

When the farmers in any territory with or without town co-operation are able to put their business on a basis which will earn 8 per cent instead of 4 per cent the producing department will need a good purchasing department and an even more elaborate sales department, which is another way of saying that the prosperous farmer will make a prosperous town.
